

Western Colorado Food and Farm Forum

January 25th – 26th, 2019

The Food and Farm Forum believes that supporting and encouraging the next generation of farmers is crucial to the future of agriculture in Colorado. We are offering 15 scholarships to individuals who have recently completed or are currently engaged in an internship/apprenticeship farm program (including agriculturally focused Americorps members) or entrepreneurs who have been operating their own ag business for three years or less in Western Colorado. Scholarship includes Friday and Saturday's registration fee and Saturday lunch. Scholarships are available on a first come first serve basis but must be submitted no later than January 18th, 2019.

Scholarship recipients are expected to volunteer for two hours. We do our best to schedule your volunteer time when it won't interfere with your breakout session preferences. Recipients also agree to write a short testimonial describing how the conference was of value to them.

Full Name: _____

Email: _____ Phone Number: _____

Organization/Farm/Business: _____

Please select which category best describes you:

New Farmer or Farm Apprentice Americorps Member

New Ag Business Owner Other: _____

Please list the name and duration of your position (e.g. 1st year intern at Growing Life Farms).

Please list the name and phone number/email of your supervisor or mentor:

Are you interested in attending a Friday workshop? Y N Which one? _____

Rate your interest in the following topics so that we can coordinate your volunteer times (1 = most interested):

Crop Production Livestock Management Marketing & Management Specialty Crops (bees, hemp)

If chosen for a scholarship do you agree to submit a short testimony of your forum experience by Feb. 12th?

Yes _____ No _____

Signature _____

Complete and email this form to foodfarmforum@gmail.com by December 28th.

If chosen for the scholarship you will be notified no later than January 11th.

Please review our website foodfarmforum.org for more information about the conference and workshop sessions.